Stabler Will Give Assembly Program

Cornelia Stabler

Cornelia Stabler, widely known monologist, will have a return engagement in the College auditorium on Friday, September 30, at 10:00 a.m.

Miss Stabler has presented her monologs in this country, and in France, Belgium, and Germany. She was enthusiastically received when she was here before and her return appearance promises to be one of the high lights of the year.

Boydston Directs Committee in Homecoming Preparations

Bigger and better for the Golden Anniversary Year is the slogan of the Homecoming committee as they begin preparation for the annual fall festivities under the direction of Wayne Boydston, newly elected student chairman, and Dr. John Harr, faculty adviser.

Members of the committee met on Monday of last week to discuss policy and rules and regulations for participation in Homecoming events.

In order to provide a better and more organized variety show, several special deadlines have been set for entries in that category. Themes for the skits must be turned in to Mr. Ralph Fulsom of the speech department by September 30; completed scripts are due by October 7; and on October 14 rehearsals will begin.

Prizes and points will be offered for window decorations this year. Clubs and organizations which decorate windows of business houses will receive one point toward the supremacy trophy. The Maryville Chamber of Commerce will offer $25, $15, and $10 for first, second, and third places in window decorations.

List of subcommittee members and a detailed policy bulletin will be published in next week's Missourian and posted on the bulletin board according to Dr. John Harr.

Student Committee Plans Beard Contest

All male students should throw away their razors and help the College celebrate its Golden Anniversary, according to the newly appointed Golden Anniversary Student Committee. The committee, headed by "Buggs" Williams and Gweldon Long, went into action last Friday night under the authorization of the Student Senate to plan activities to promote the Anniversary Year.

Under rules established by the committee all male students of the College must wear beards or purchase a shaver's permit for one dollar. Any male not wearing a beard, who is caught by Sheriff Nancy Kariger or her deputies, will be subject to a fine of not more than fifty cents. Proceeds will go to the Student Loan Fund.

Student Body President Kenneth Moore presented the Rev. Monk Bryan of the Maryville Methodist Church who introduced the members of the Maryville Ministerial Alliance present at the assembly.

Students Will Discuss Problems in Teaching

Problems in teaching will be considered by the student teachers at the seminar meeting at 4:00, Thursday afternoon, October 13, in Horace Mann School.

Miss Chloë Millikan will direct the discussion for students teaching in the elementary department. All secondary practice teachers will meet with Mr. H. R. Dierich in the library for an examination of problems in teaching of high school pupils.

All faculty members of the College, students in education classes, and students who have completed their student teaching are invited to attend the seminar.

Advisory Council Begins New Work

One of the newest organizations on the campus is the new Student Advisory Council. This council, sponsored by Dr. Charles Koerble, is composed of about 35 upper-class students who have taken, in addition to their regular work, the responsibility to aid at least ten freshmen students with any problem which they may encounter.

Each member of the council has selected his advisees from the students in his own major field and will contact them within the next one or two weeks.

Golden Anniversary Year Sees Fall Enrollment Hitting New Peak

Records Show 29.5 Per Cent Gain Over Attendance Figures of 1954

Members attending were the Rev. Ralph Lambert, First Christian Church; the Rev. Paul Lloyd, Church of the Nazarene, the Rev. Virgil Vaughn, First Baptist Church; the Rev. David Thomas, First Presbyterian Church; and the Rev. Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Thomas spoke to the assembled students on behalf of the Alliance. He reminded them that they are here to apply themselves to develop the facility of using their intellects.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God . . . Take time to be holy or fall behind in your spiritual growth," he stressed.

Martha Newman of the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority was called to the front of the auditorium to receive the Pan-Hellenic scholarship cup from President Jones. The cup was presented to the Tri Sigmans for having the highest scholastic average among the sororities during the 1954-55 school year.

Tower Pictures Cost Only One Dollar Now

Individual pictures for this year's annual will cost one-half as much as they did previously. Four poses will be taken for $1 and the student's choice will appear in the '56 Tower. The type of clothing to be worn will be left to the student's choice.

Robert Lafferty, Tower staff photographer, has been working with his new equipment in the Gold Room of the Union since Tuesday, September 20. The majority of the freshmen will finish this week. The upperclass women will pose after the freshmen. To prevent conflict with the beard-growing contest the upperclass men are tentatively scheduled to pose after Homecoming. Detailed schedules have been posted. Subsequent schedules will appear on bulletin boards.

The Tower staff hopes that all students will have their pictures taken on-campus in order to make the pictures uniform in the forthcoming issue of the Tower.

Many freshmen, however, have not been adhering to the posted schedule. They should check the bulletin board again and appear at the appointed time.

New records every day could well be the theme of the first week of the Golden Anniversary year for Northwest Missouri State College. Beginning with President J. W. Jones' announcement of 1132 students enrolled by the evening of registration day the total has continued to swell throughout the first week of classes until, as the Northwest Missourian goes to press, it stands at the record-breaking figure of 1222 regular daytime students.

This figure represents an increase of 270 students or 29.5 per cent over the 1954 fall enrollment, which had a 29 per cent increase over the previous year. It also represents a 22.9 per cent increase over the previous all-time record fall enrollment of 1002 in the fall semester of 1939.

In addition to the 1222 regular students, there are 51 Saturday students and 18 graduate students. These 69 students are taking residence work equivalent to 20 full time students. This brings the enrollment in the College to 1242 students.

Even the most optimistic college official hesitated to predict an enrollment in excess of 1100 students a month ago, but these predictions had long fallen by the wayside when Jerry Dancer, the 1200th student, enrolled on Wednesday of the first week.

A record freshmen class of more than 450 students is one of the principal causes of the increased enrollment, but the large number of returning upperclassmen also has added to the total.

In the opening assembly of the Anniversary Year Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the College since 1945 when the enrollment was only a little more than 300, cited several critical problems which had been caused by the increased enrollment.

Many classrooms are overcrowded, but these classes have been divided and new instructors provided.

Housing has been critical as campus housing has all been taken since April, but many calls for rooms by College officials have brought off-campus housing for many students.

Get Tickets Now!

The United States Navy Band will give a matinee program for college students and faculty members at 2 p. m. on Monday, October 31, according to Dr. Sterling Surrey, chairman of the assemblies committee.

All seats for this performance will be reserved, and tickets must be obtained before Monday, October 10. Tickets will be given to all students and faculty members upon presentation of an activity card to Dr. Surrey or his secretary in room 101.

Seven Coeds Will Lead Campus Cheering

Fashions From 1905 . . .

In this year of centennial celebrations all over the Middle-west, people are wearing the costumes of a hundred years ago. Students at Northwest Missouri State College have wondered if they might dress in keeping with this Golden Anniversary of the College. If they do so dress, what will they be wearing? Surely not the costumes of a century ago. The question they must first answer is, What did the people of 1905-1906 wear?

Let us have a look this week at women's fashions of fifty years ago. One of the women's magazines carries each month items from fifty years ago. Scanning the columns up to the present month, one comes up with a fair picture of the woman of fashion when this College was coming into being.

Women were wearing big veils—chiffon ones to protect the skin from freckles, to keep off dust or cinders, to trail out behind when riding in the new Oldsmobile seven-horsepower runabout that could be bought for $650. If a woman were going to the seashore, she was advised to try a red gauze veil to prevent sunburn. The queer thing about it, however, is that the women of 1905 went bathing "in black or navy twill, with bloomers, skirts, long sleeves and high necks, worn with sunbonnets and often gloves, as well as stockings and shoes," according to another issue of the magazine.

The costumes of the ladies were influenced by the Floradora Girls. Whalebones were necessary for the fitted waists the women were wearing. Featherboning kept high pointed collars well up under the ears and up to the hairline in the back. Pompadours were popular, with the hair in a knot at the back just clearing the high collar. If a woman did not have sufficient hair for a pompadour, she could buy a "Natural Wavy Parted Pompadour Human Hair Switch" for $3.00. If she removed her big Floradora hat for evening she was likely to wear in her hair a fancy tortoise-shell comb with brilliants or other decoration.

By September of 1905, Paris had decreed that gowns were to be eight yards around the bottom, touching the ground on all sides and so tightly fitted across the hips that a newspaper of the times commented upon the skirts that "applied such sculptural indiscretion to the female outline." The advertisements offered "The Hip Form" that "makes the figure symmetrical, overcomes flatness at the back and side hips—invisible, light in weight, thoroughly ventilated." The form finally achieved for the Perfect Thirty-Six had a 26-inch waist and 42-inch hips. The eight yards of material around the bottom of the skirts required cable cording to give them swing and a dust ruffle to keep them from picking up street dust.

Shoes were high. The magazine comments, "What a common sight it is to see a man fastening up the laces of his walking companion" and advises women to consult their shoe salesman about how to tie their shoe laces to keep them from coming untied.

The men of 1905-1906 did not wear beards, but the young swains did leave "bouquets of spring flowers on May Day for the young ladies." More research will be needed to produce an article about the well-dressed man of the period. The young man of 1955 might be interested in the answer that was given a young man of 1905 who had asked on what income a man should marry. The answer was "On savings of $300 and a salary of $10 to $15 a week." That may have a bearing on how he dressed.

The Stroller . . .

On your mark! Get set! Brrrinnng! Goes the class bell, and the students who have 11 o'clock classes begin their long race to the Union in order to avoid standing in line at the cafeteria. Around the various turns of the Ad. building stairways and into the straight-a-way of the front walk comes George Green leading the pack. As they near the finish line Roger Rowlett moves up on the outside! It's Rowlett and Green—no, Green and Rowlett . . . and the winner—Beetlebaum.

Hello, all you lucky students. The Stroller is back again this fall to bring some idle chatter about everything in general and nothing in particular.

The first paragraph of this week's column, in The Stroller's opinion, just about describes in full the atmosphere about the campus these days. Everything is hurry, hurry, hurry. Guess maybe that's because it's the Golden Anniversary year and everyone wants to do things in a big way.

Speaking of big things, take a look at this year's freshman class. They really make an impressive sight when some M Club member yells "button" at a kangaroo court. The M Club has them well in hand, however, as Darlene Vonder-schmidt and several other freshies will testify.

According to Dean of Men Lon Wilson, moths are not the only things which can be controlled by mothballs. When he returned from Canada this August, he found that his garage had become a resort for a large number of birds. The honorable Dean, however, was not to be deprived of his garage; he distributed a sack of the aforementioned among the rafters, and the birds have not been back.

A short time ago, the Stroller happened to be going out to King's for a cup of coffee, when she noticed that there were no RESUME SPEED signs after the last 25 MPH speed sign. Continuing south along U. S. 71, she found that the closest RESUME SPEED sign was at Pumpkin Center. Can anyone explain why there is a twenty-five mile per hour speed limit between Maryville and Pumpkin Center?

It seems as though all the men on the campus must want to learn to dance! The demand for instruction in social dancing has been so great that two classes with a total of 179 enrolled have been organized by the women's physical education department. It looks as if attendance at dances might reach an all-time high this year.

Meet Our Friends From Other Lands

People — you see them, hear about them, talk with them, read about them. But have you met the four foreign students who are now on the campus?

Rita Vernaza from Santa Fe-Varaguas, Panama, is here for the second school year. A sophomore business major, she has been here since last November and plans to stay until she graduates. Rita comments, "I like school a lot, but I do get lonesome for my family."

Mahmood Eghbal-Ahmadi, who was also a student here last year, is majoring in agricultural engineering. Mahmood arrived last year from Tabriz, Iran, where he was graduated from a high school in natural science. Mahmood chose Maryville because he likes a small friendly college, and he is paying his own way to school. A new student on the campus is Luis Zelaya from Bolivia. This is Luis's first visit here, although his sister, Arminda Zelaya, graduated from the College in 1948. She is teaching at present in the University of La Paz, Bolivia.

The College also welcomes Yum Chul Kim from Seoul, Korea. "Call me Joe," Yun says. Joe attended the University of Seoul for three years. The war interrupted; so he later came to the United States. He attended St. Joseph Junior College last year as a business major and transferred to Maryville this fall.

More students are expected to be on campus soon. Alice Glynos, France, who was here last year, will return, and Teresa Bavula DeEstebam, Argentina, who will teach Spanish in the Horace Mann Laboratory School, has just arrived!

They're Talking . . .

An individual can walk around the campus for approximately two weeks and never hear anything particularly interesting or unusual, but just one step forward in the Bearcats' Den and there is where you really find out what they're talking about . . . for instance, there is reason to believe that spending too long in Texas was the cause for a local disturbance the other night . . . Phil Rank, just back from Texas and the Air Force, woke up when it began to rain . . . Phil's roommate says he believes the poor fellow hadn't seen rain for quite a spell; anyway Phil went around screaming in the middle of the night, "It's raining, fellows, it's raining" . . . Someone was talking about these beards, but most people were scratching theirs . . . Lots of freshmen doing the "button" comment that some popular upperclassmen are overdoing their bit.

Cliff Thompson talking about watching a slow motion tennis match (on 3rd floor) with evidently several other students participating in the observation . . . talking about Homecoming, rush parties, Walkout Day, Humanities, parties, the first football game at home, and the individual who thought the rules were changed when slightly before the half he glanced toward the field and saw 44 players and 6 officials . . . And speaking of spirits . . . with the large enrollment they're talking about the new spirit of the College—really more life too . . . How cagey the book store is . . . the students must be just as cagey to catch it when it opens before it closes.

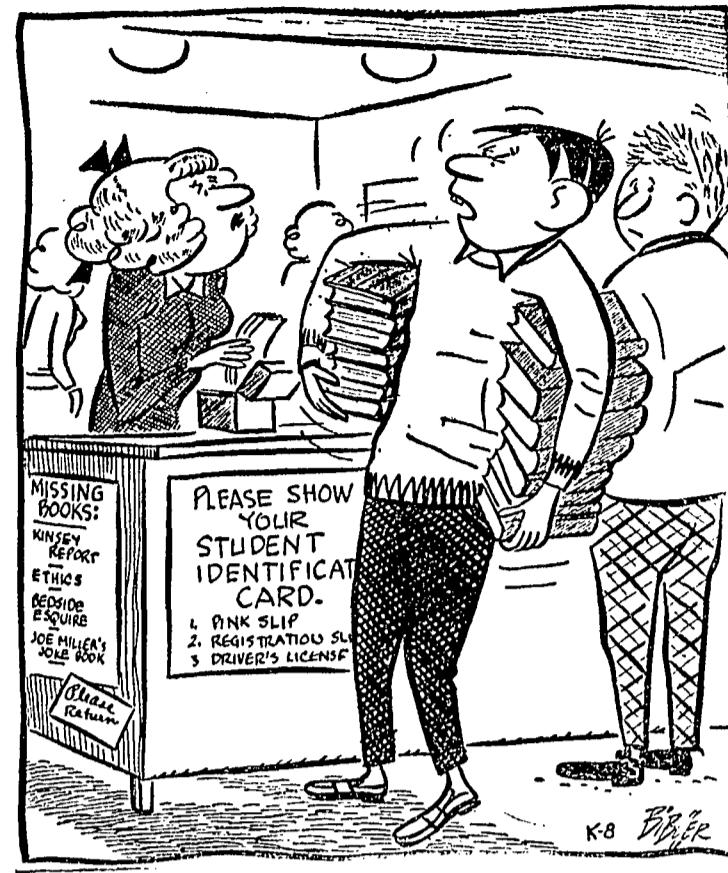

Golden Anniversary Year Sees Fall Enrollment Hit New Peak

The unprecedented 1242 enrollment may result in the highest percentage of increase for any Missouri state college this year. The 29 per cent increase last year was the largest of the five state colleges.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

Notes About the Faculty . . .

George R. Gayler, member of summer at Albuquerque, New Mexico, completed his Ph. D. degree at the University of Indiana this summer. The title of his dissertation was "A Social, Economic, and Political Study of the Mormons in Western Illinois, 1839-1846; A Re-evaluation."

Miss Chloe Millikan, of the College education department, is back on the campus where she has assumed her full responsibilities in supervising at the Horace Mann Laboratory School as well as her college classes. She is still confined to a walker because of a broken hip which she suffered last February. Her improvement is satisfactory and she hopes soon to begin walking at least with a crutch or cane.

Mrs. Avis Graham of the education staff enjoyed several days' vacation in the Denver-Boulder area during August and was present at commencement exercises of the University of Colorado, August 27, when her son, Justyn L. Graham, received his master's degree in education.

Justyn is elementary principal of the Savannah schools.

Miss Mabel Cook, of the College faculty, and Mrs. Montgomery Wilson attended the National Conclave of the Kappa Omicron Phi home economics fraternity this summer.

Faculty Leads Out with Reception for Students

A record number of students, more than 1000, attended the formal reception held in their honor in Union lounge, Monday evening, September 19. In the receiving line, shown above, are President Mrs. J. W. Jones, Attorney and Mrs. Harold Hull, and Dean and Mrs. W. A. Brandenburg, who greeted some of the guests. In charge of the reception plans were members of the Student-Faculty Affairs Committee—Miss Mabel Cook, Dr. Charles Koerble, Miss Lois Simons, and Mr. Lon Wilcox. TKE joins the administration and the organizations on campus in extending a hearty welcome to all the new students at the College. This year promises to be one of the greatest in the history of the school.

Frater Stan Stewart's highlight of the summer was his August marriage to Helen Phares, a former student here. They now reside in Savannah.

For the group as a whole, the summer was climaxed by the bi-annual conclave of TKE at Kansas City. Those attending the festivity and discussions were Fraters Tilton, Hammond and Barnett.

Delta Nu Chapter is extremely proud of ex-prytanis J. D. Hammond who will enter graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania this fall on a business scholarship. J. D. is the second Maryville Teke in three years to receive this honor. His predecessor was Don Tilton, brother of present prytanis, Ric Tilton.

Sigma Phi Dolphin

Nine new members of Sigma Phi Dolphins are Mildred Barker, Mary Jane Bridgewater, Marsha Creason, Ann Dolecheck, Charlene Olson, Barbara Sharp, JoAnn Swanson, Bette Tudor, and Sue Williamson, as a result of try-outs held September 14.

Try-outs will be held again at 4 p. m., Wednesday, September 28.

Officers for Sigma Phi Dolphin Club are Barbara Kunze, president; Marilyn O'Connor, vice-president; Barbara Benning; secretary-treasurer.

Dance Club

Members of the Dance Club and Miss Doris Hysler, sponsor, held a party on September 14 for all students interested in joining the club.

Two modern dance numbers were presented to the guests to illustrate what Dance Club is like.

Phi Sigs are very busy at this time of year with Homecoming and smokers coming up in the near future. Special committees will be appointed for these events.

Independent Club

Do you have a meal of bread for a tramp? This was the plea as the I C Hobo Party got underway on September 20. Tramps, moochers, hoboes and bums went on a scavenger hunt and then met in the College Park where they joined in mixer activities. Shirley Woodring led group singing around the campfire. Fred Whitford, president, introduced the officers and the sponsor, Dr. Tilton.

Charles Koerble. Following the program under the leadership of Betty Cooksey, more than 160 students were served refreshments. The party ended with the group singing the Independent Club song.

At the next regular meeting work will begin on the Golden Anniversary Homecoming projects.

Ten members were present at the first Pi Omega Pi meeting held September 19.

New sponsors are Mr. Robert Gryder and Mr. Lee Hoover, both new members of the College business department.

Officers for this year are Dirk Wilbur, president; J. W. Stone, vice-president; Jack Patton, treasurer; Donna Ross, secretary; Jo Ann Meek, historian; and Frank Davis, reporter.

Colhecon

At the first meeting of Colhecon plans were made for a picnic which was held September 21 for Colhecon and Kappa Omicron Phi at College Park to welcome freshmen and transfer students who are home economic majors. Group singing was led by Barbara LaMar.

Tau Talk

Sigma Tau Gamma has started rolling again and hopes are high for a bigger and better year than ever.

Plans are being made for coming activities, Homecoming, intramurals, pledging and parties. The outlook of the brothers about these coming events is one of a serious nature. Standards set by the organization will be difficult to maintain.

Taus welcome back Bill Burnham, Gene Johnson, Dean Lundy, Bill Grace, and Wayne "Smith Brother" Boydston, who have just finished the tour of duty.

Bob Darr, graduate of the College in 1931, and his family visited the campus September 2. They are living in Fairfax Co., Virginia. Bob's wife, formerly Virginia Bowen, is a graduate of 1937.

Starting Line-Up Is Ready for Ft. Hays Tigers

The rough and ready Bearcats are lined up for the whistle opening the game with Ft. Hays Saturday night in Memorial Stadium. This year the team will be sporting new jerseys and the helmets were all new last year. Left to right are: Larry Rowley, E; Dale Hague, T; Don Schenkel, G; Bill Ruby, C; Ed Messbarger, G; John Schulze, T; Dick Wogan, E; Darrel Walker, QB; Micky Mallen, Fred Maher and Jerry McGinnis are in the back positions.

Intramurals Provide Program With Variety of Activities

In 1947, the division of Health and Physical Education added a new department, known as the Intramural and Co-recreational Department. Since that time, the program has expanded tremendously until last year when the College students were able to participate in 18 various sports. More than 600 scheduled contests were held. It may be stated with pride that the College has an excellent intramural program.

Included this year are the following sports: Touch football, tennis (singles and doubles), basketball, ping pong, badminton, volleyball, free throw contest, aerial tennis, softball, golf, horse shoes (singles and doubles), bowling, swimming, track, Scotch golf, and other co-recreational activities.

The entire program is governed by students who are assisted by the intramural director. This group is known as the intramural commission. The commission met, September 20, to begin preparing for this year's program.

This fall, from September to November 15, the sports offered will be touch football, tennis, and co-recreational swimming and other co-recreational activities.

During the winter months, November 15 to March 15, will be basketball, ping pong, badminton, volleyball, free throw contest, bowling, and co-recreation. This spring, March 15 to June 1, there will be softball, golf, tennis, Scotch golf, horse shoes, bowling, swimming, track, and more co-recreational activities; and next summer will come tennis, golf, softball, and swimming.

All games and tournaments will be refereed by Dr. Peterson's officiating class.

Competition involves four different organizations, the Phi Sigma Epsilon, Sigma Tau Gamma, and the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternities, and the Independent Club.

There will be two teams entered in the tournament from each fraternity. If you do not belong to one of these organizations, you are still quite eligible. If you wish to play for one of the fraternities, talk to someone in the club. If you are unable to do this but still wish to play, contact Dr. Peterson, and he will make certain that you will get on a team. All varsity or "B" team squad members are ineligible to compete in the sport in which they are playing for the College this season.

Watch the bulletin boards! After a team or individual entry has been made, the individual or team manager must know when and where to play. Rules and other information may be acquired at Dr. Peterson's office or from the game officials. It is strongly recommended that the team managers become quite familiar with rules and regulations of the game. Also, team managers must try to keep their team's sportsmanship on a high level.

The program slogan is "Sports for All," and with such a variety everyone should be entered in some of these activities of competition.

Remember this program is well organized. Your participation and sportsmanship is imperative for a really successful intramural season. For some of you, who will never play varsity sports, this is a golden opportunity during a golden anniversary for you to play just a few more games while you are still "young at heart" both physically and mentally.

Bearcats Have Depth To Help This Season

Coach Ryland Milner was very much surprised at the number of boys that turned out for football this fall. Coach Milner is starting his 19th season with the Bearcats this year.

This, the largest squad in years, is composed of 6 seniors, 11 juniors, 10 sophomores, and the surprising 51 first-year men. Of the 78 boys out, 54 are from Missouri, 21 from Iowa, 2 from Illinois, and 1 from Nebraska.

Tri-captains for this season are Darrell Walker, Dale Hague, and Mickey Mallen. Among the other lettermen are Larry Butler, Bill Cain, Jerry Dancer, Russ Davenport, Harold Greaves, George Haskey, Fred Maher, Ronnie O'Dell, Larry Rowley, Ed Messbarger, John Schulze, Don Schenkel, and Vic Cromer.

Freshmen who are showing great possibilities are Jerry Donaldson, end from St. Joseph Benton, Dick Powell and Elmer Clark from Gower, and Jerry McGinnis, Shenandoah.

Dick Wogan, a transfer from Kansas University, is a great help to Coach Milner's Bearcats. Wogan scored the only touchdown in the 7-7 tie with Doane College on a pass from quarterback Walker.

The Bearcats' coaching staff remains the same with Coach Mil-

Doane College came from behind in the second half to tie the Bearcats in the first game of this season, 7-7. Darrel Walker's passing arm kept the 'Cats in the game as he passed to Dick Wogan for the first score of the non-conference game.

First night jitters seemed to take their toll in the Bearcat offense play. The 'Cats made numerous bobbles, two of which led indirectly to the game-evening touchdown.

The Bearcats excelled only in passing in the statistics. Outstanding player of the night for both defense and offense was Vic Cromer, end. Ed Messbarger, guard, also turned in a good job on defense.

her being ably assisted by Coach Gregory and Dr. Peterson. Erni Hutchings, star center for the Bearcats last year, is also helping with the team while he is completing his last year of college.

The Bearcats have changed their offense to the split-T. This offense seems to be working well so far with the heavy men looking good in the line.

The 78 now drilling seem to be an indication of the great possibility of Coach Milner's team placing high in Conference play this season.
